

THURSDAY 19th of Nov

12.15-14.00	Environments and wellbeing
	12.15: Opening of the conference 12.30: Keynote – Simon Elsborg Nygaard: On the relation between environmentally sustainable living and subjective well-being 13.10: Evi Petersen: The role of emotions for the relationship of nature connectedness and subjective wellbeing 13.30: Short break (10 minutes) 13.40: Evgenia Gorantonaki: The cosy space: an interplay of psychology and architecture 14.00: Keynote – Åshild Lappegard Hauge: Symbol aesthetics as an approach to influence both well-being and environmental behavior
14.30-15.20	Late lunch
15.20-16.00	Nature and health
	15.20: Svein Åge K. Johnsen: Developing the therapeutic potential of nature cabins in outpatient and inpatient care 15.40: Nicole Kras: Understanding the Role of the Natural Environment in the Lives of New England Island Residents
16.00-16.35	Coffee break
16.35-17.15	Urban development
	16.35: Dana Kvietkute: Moving in with strangers – exploring motivations and stated preferences for co-housing and shared living in Norway 16.55: Kathrine Karlsen: The impact of Voluntary Parking Racks on E-scooter Users' Parking Behavior
17.15-17.25	Short break (10 minutes)
17.25-18.30	Nature and exercise
	17.25: Giovanna Calguiri: Taking real steps in virtual nature – Developing and testing a virtual green exercise installation: rationale and protocol. 17.45: Giovanna Calguiri: “Here, you step outside and you’re into nature.” A mixed-method study on the physical activity habits of first-generation Italian immigrants in Norway 18.05: Workshop by Giovanna Calguiri and Tadhg MacIntyre: special issue: “Advances in Green Exercise and Health Promotion” to be published in International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health (MDPI). Researchers interested in publishing their work relating to green exercise are invited to participate.

FRIDAY 20th of Nov

09.00-12.00	Climate psychology / Covid-19
	09.00: Opening of day two 09.05: Keynote – Per Espen Stoknes: Climate psychology and climate communication 09.45: Thea Gregersen: What do people believe will be the most important impacts of climate change in Norway? 10.05: Erik Løhre: Communicated and perceived public consensus about climate change 10.25: Short break (10 min) 10.35: Keynote – Birgitta Gatersleben: Nature engagement pre-, during and post Covid-19 11.15: Gisela Böhm: Climate change versus pandemic influenza: Do people perceive these two global risks differently? 11.35: Aslak Fyhri: The influence of Covid-19 induced “non-commuting” on mood and productivity
12.00-13.00	Lunch and poster session
13.00-14.00	A: Pro-environmental behavior	B: Pro-environmental behavior – theory development
	13.00: Erik Nakkerud: Living environmentally childfree: Is it a private or an activist pro-environmental behavior? 13.20: Lukasz Derdowski: Less food waste with the right plate color? 13.40: Samar Albarghouthi: The national School Championship: From climate strike to climate action	13.00: Hildegunn Marie Tønnessen Seip: Towards a sustainable psychology 13.20: Marin K. Henriksen: Reuse of building materials – networking strategies for social innovation 13.40: Ingeborg Flagstad: Going green – what does it mean?
14.00-14.15	Coffee break
14.15-15.15	Workshop: The Norwegian Psychological Association, Climate committee: How can psychological knowledge be used in the municipalities’ work on climate, environment and sustainability? By Erik Nakkerud, Bjørn Z. Ekelund, Mona Cecilie Nielsen.
15.15-15.30	Closing session	